About the Institute

National Institute of Rural Development & Panchayati Raj (NIRDPR), Ministry of Rural Development, Government of India, celebrated its Golden Jubilee in the year 2008, is a premier national centre of excellence of rural development. Recognized internationally as UN-ESCAP Centre of Excellence in HRD, it builds capacities of rural development functionaries, elected representatives, academicians and young students through inter-related activities of training, research, teaching and consultancy to enable them to analyse and propose solutions to problems in planning and implementation of the programmes for rural development and disseminate information through periodicals, reports and publications. The Institute is located in the serene rural surroundings of Rajendranagar about 15 km from the historic city of Hyderabad.

The vision of NIRD & PR is to focus on the policies and programmes that benefit the rural poor, strive to energize the democratic decentralization processes, improve the operation and efficiency of rural development personnel, promote transfer of technology through its social laboratories, technology park and create environmental awareness.

As a “think-tank” for the Ministry of Rural Development, NIRD & PR, while acting as a repository of knowledge on rural development, also assist the Ministry in policy formulation and choice of options in rural development to usher in the change.

The Institute’s services are also available at North East Regional Centre (NERC) at Guwahati and to different ministries/development departments of the Central and State Governments, Banking institutions, public and private sector organizations, civil societies, Panchayati Raj Institutions and other national and international agencies connected with rural development.

Centre for Post Graduate Studies and Distance Education of NIRD & PR

Centre for Post Graduate Studies and Distance Education (CPGS & DE) was established in 2008 in view of rapid changes in communication and technology and increasing need of massive trained manpower in rural development. The Centre focuses on academic oriented programmes for capacity building of development personnels of government organisations, elected representatives and educated youth to function as change managers.

About the Programme

The sustainable rural development is basically the development which meets the need of present generation of rural people without compromising the capacity of future generations to fulfil their own needs. This entails sustained efforts to raise the quality of life of rural people. Huge efforts are being made in India and so also other developing countries to develop their rural areas in order to reduce Urban-Rural divide by creating conducive environment for resource development and utilization through up - grading knowledge and skills of the people to make the best use of available resources. What is required is large number of capable human resources who will function as change managers, which this P.G. Diploma Programme sets out to produce. The enrolled students will have unique opportunity to access best learning resources for developing strong perspective and technical capability for developing and managing rural development projects on their own. They will be trained to be professionals with difference. The programme so far has received good response from the students/serving officials from different parts of the country.
